978-81-237-7892-1; Rs 135

A four-week Training Course in Book Publishing is being organised by the National Book Trust, India at its premises from 12 July to 8 August 2016.

Inaugurating the course, Shri Baldeo Bhai Sharma, Chairman, NBT, said that “NBT has been organizing such programmes for the last twenty years for the skill-development. A team of experts from the field of publishing share their experience with the participants and help them develop their skills.”

Reflecting upon the current scenario of books and reading habit in the country, Shri Sharma said that the printed books are very close to the readers in India and the habit of reading has not diminished. Therefore, the trend of reading printed books in India will continue. He added that the course would help participants to pursue a career in publishing.

Talking about the avenues that publishing industry in India provides, Shri Sridhar Balan, consultant, Ratna Sagar said that India is the third largest publisher of books in English in the world. Today, the industry is professionally well equipped and use cutting edge technology for publishing the books. He also said that the industry requires skilled professionals and this course would help participants to start their career in publishing.

Earlier, Dr Rita Chowdhury, Director, NBT welcomed the guests and participants. Dr Rita Chowdhury herself a Sahitya Akademi Award recipient spoke of her experiences interacting with publishers as an author. She said, “If publishers do not work professionally, then the authors cannot reach their lifeline, i.e. readers. We have to reach the world around, crossing all the boundaries to assert our identity, capacity and enhance our capability.”

She also said that in this age of globalization, the Indian publishing industry has become international as it has been actively organizing and participating in the book fairs, literary festivals, etc. across the world.

The training course in book publishing has been designed keeping in view the needs of the industry in Indian context. Members of faculty drawn from leading publishing houses, institutions and universities provide an insight into various aspects of book publishing including editing, publishing, marketing, warehousing, promotion, digital printing etc. The Trust facilitates the training for participants as interns at various publishing houses.

Book Release at Meerut

While releasing the books, Prof. Narendra Kumar Taneja, Vice-Chancellor, Chaudhary Charan Singh University, Meerut, said that the history has never been taught completely at schools. He added that our history is all about struggle. He observed that Englishmen talked of nationalism but they had been responsible for ending democracy around the world.

Shri Baldeo Bhai Sharma, Chairman, NBT presided over the function. He said that India is a resourceful and dynamic country and no ruler has ever found it possible to rule it entirely, because in each era there had always been a cry and struggle for freedom.

Talking about the importance of introducing life and times of freedom fighters to children, Shri Baldeo Bhai Sharma said that if we do not inform children about the great men of India who established democracy, we will again face the danger of bondage.

Eminent lawyer Dr. Neelkamal Sharma shared his views on the book ‘1857: Kranti aur Krantidhara’ He said that the inhabitants of Meerut irrespective of their caste, creed or religion, enthusiastically participated in the uprising.

Dr Amit Pathak, well-known historian said that Meerut was the focal point from where the spark of uprising began but the children studying in the schools in Meerut hardly read about the uprising in detail. He remarked that children must be made aware about the important events and places associated with the revolt.

Shri R K Bhatnagar, IAS, and Shri A K Gandhi also spoke on the occasion. They discussed about the communal harmony and valiant acts of the soldiers and common people in their fight against foreign rule.

Shri Pankaj Chaturvedi, Hindi Editor coordinated the programme.

In 1914, Komagata Maru sailed from Hong Kong, then a holding of the British Empire, to Vancouver, Canada, carrying 376 passengers from Punjab. Of them, 24 were admitted to Canada, and the ship was forced to return to India. The passengers comprised 340 Sikhs, 24 Muslims, and 12 Hindus. Komagata Maru arrived in Calcutta on September 27, and the passengers were placed under guard. When the ship docked at Budge Budge, the police went to arrest Baba Gurdit Singh, and a general riot ensued. Nineteen of the passengers were killed. Some escaped, but the rest were imprisoned or sent to their villages and kept under village arrest.
NCCL and Readers’ Club: The Forum for Joyful Reading

National Centre for Children’s Literature (NCCL) is a wing of National Book Trust, India. It was established in 1993 to promote, create, coordinate, monitor and aid the publication of children’s literature in Indian languages. It also provides assistance and expertise to teachers, librarians, editors, writers and illustrators by arranging creative workshops across the country especially in rural areas for promoting reading habit among children.

NCCL organizes workshops, discussions, seminars and exhibitions for children and professionals to explore new avenues in children’s literature and creative skills in children and participates in international book fairs to promote Indian children’s literature abroad.

Over the last few years, renowned children’s authors, storytellers, illustrators, and activists interacted with the children, teachers, librarians and general readers in various programmes for children organised by NCCL.

Readers’ Club Movement
NCCL also runs the Readers’ Club Movement to promote the habit of reading at school level. It is one of the largest reading movements in the world. Till date over 35,000 Readers’ Clubs have been established in the country. A bilingual magazine Readers’ Club Bulletin is also published to foster the Movement.

Library-cum-Documentation Centre
NCCL has a Library-cum-Documentation Centre with a collection of over 15,000 books on children’s literature covering wide range of subjects in 44 languages of the world (18 Indian and 26 foreign languages). Over 50 periodicals of children’s literature in various Indian languages are also subscribed by the Library for reading and reference of the library users. The Library has recently been re-modelled to give an ultra-modern look and provide quality services to the users. Located at the ground floor at the premises of the Trust, the Library is spread over an area of 96.2 sq. mts. It has been designed keeping in mind the multifarious needs of the users. The Library is also open to school children for group visits.

The Library has the following holdings:
• Research and Reference: Over 600 rare reference books to help professionals, scholars and researchers for their research work, surveys etc.
• Media/Multi-Media: 150 CDs/DVDs on children’s literature, a touch screen, PCs and an LCD TV.
• Books for Children and Young Adults: Over 15,000 books (both fiction and non-fiction) for children and young adults.

Reading Room Facilities
Reading tables, chairs, book shelves, library space, recessed lights, anti-skid flooring, wooden steps and appropriate ventilation for users providing an ideal atmosphere for reading.

Networking
NCCL Library is connected with over 4,000 DELNET member libraries through internet including Delhi Public Library and JNU Library. The users can visit NBT’s website at www.nbtindia.org.in and click on Online Public Access Catalogue (OPAC) section for accessing NCCL Library database.

What is a Readers’ Club?
Readers’ Club is an informal organisation where teachers and children meet from time to time, read books, have discussions, and exchange ideas on books. Its prime objective is to inculcate the habit of reading books other than prescribed text books as well as to provide an easy access to good and interesting reading materials.

What the NCCL can do for those Clubs?
Interested schools, NGOs and other institutions who wish to start Readers’ Club can write to NCCL or can download the form from NBT’s website. Govt. schools establishing Readers’ Clubs will be sent books worth Rs.1000/- Free of cost. They will also be sent Readers’ Club Bulletin which will have stories, poems, interesting news and other absorbing articles. The Bulletin also publishes the writings of children. Besides, attractive reading promotion posters and other materials are also sent to the Readers’ Clubs on regular basis.

Where to establish a Readers’ Club?
The club can be set up anywhere in the school. The place should be well-lighted. This can even be at the back of a classroom, in the corner of a varandah or under a tree. Where to keep books?
Books should be placed where the children can easily access them. Children should have the freedom to handle the books, browse through them, select books of their choice, freely exchange them and take them home. It should not be for fear of damage or loss that children are not allowed to handle books.

Who will take care of the books?
Coordination of Readers’ Club can be entrusted to an individual or the responsibility can be rotated. Children must participate in the organisation and running of this club. Children not only love to work independently but are responsible too. Reading to younger children and arranging books are the tasks they can easily do. They will also be happy collecting old books.
