It was one of the particular skills of Gandhi, that he could easily write with both of his hands. A panel from the photo of Hind Swaraj shows the fame.

Hind Swaraj, according to Gandhiji, was an attempt to see beauty in voluntary simplicity, voluntary poverty, and slowness.

In his brief introduction to the book, Gandhiji said, "I wrote only when I could not contain it any longer. I read a lot, thought a lot, discussed with as many Indians as possible, also met as many British as possible. I considered it my duty to piece before the readers my final thoughts." Hind Swaraj is the declaration of non-violent culture against the violent culture.
GANDHI AS EDITOR
गांधी जी एक संपादक के रूप में

Editorial markings (above) of an article published (below).

HARIJAN

Notes

गांधी जी एक कृतिक संपादक भी थे। इस पैनल में उनके द्वारा संपादित एक आलेख को दर्शाया गया है। our lives be open books.

-M.K. GANDHI